Music is Invaluable in developing successful students, shaping the way they understand themselves and the world around them.

Here are just a few reasons why:

-  Group music making can lead to increased confidence and improve moods throughout your entire life.
-  Music making can reduce feelings of anxiety and depression, even outside of a therapy session.
-  Music learning fosters creativity and innovation as well as improving attention span and concentration.
-  Succeeding in music requires commitment, tracking your own progress, and being patient as you work towards your success.
-  For kids in school, learning music is linked to better performance in subjects like math, science, and history.
-  Musicians tend to have better working memory than those who don't practice music.
